NOGET SÆRLIGT

The theme of childhood runs through this tour, so whether you want to relive your past or introduce younger passengers to some traditional folklore, this excursion to the home of a children's author and to Santa's House offers a lovely trip down memory lane! Akureyri is the cultural and commercial centre of northern Iceland; this small city boasts a flourishing art scene and a fascinating past. The informative exhibits will tell you all you ever wanted to know about the lives these majestic ocean creatures lead in the frosty Icelandic waters. AKU10 - WHALE WATCHING EXPERIENCE

NATURLIGE UNDERVÆRKER

Iceland has earned itself a rightful name as a prime European location for whale watching and the port of Akureyri is one of the countrys very best spots for sighting marine mammals who come to feed in its year-round ice-free bay. In addition to an abundance of seabirds such as puffins, bay visitors include minke, fin and blue whales as well as playful harbour porpoises and white-beaked dolphins who like to surf alongside boats and other watercraft. But the certain star of this bay-watch show are humpback whales, easily identified by their black and white flippers, lumpy snouts and huge fountain-like blows. Humpbacks are particularly known for their aquatic acrobatics, so watch out for common behaviours such as breaching, fluking, tail and fin slapping, bubble blowing and spyhopping during your exploration of Eyjafjörður, the fjord adjoining Akureyri bay. You'll return to shore with a new appreciation of these majestic marine dwellers, complete with unforgettable memories to savour on board the ship. Please note: guides available in English only. This tour is not suitable for guests using a wheelchair. Wildlife sightings are likely, but not guaranteed. This tour may have multiple departures throughout the stay in port of the ship. The town of Isafjordur is the biggest settlement in the west fjords of Iceland and a key centre for trade and culture. Starting at the pier, drive into the centre of the town along a narrow coastal road passing the small town of Bolungarvik; here we will visit the church and "Osvor", an old fisherman's hut, restored in 1988. The village of Bolungarvik lies on a picturesque bay surrounded by steep mountains. The scenic drive to Isafjordur offers fantastic views of the mountains that surround the fjord. Our trip also takes us through the historic district of Isafjordur, to the Maritime Museum, located in one of the oldest houses of Iceland. ### IFJ03 - GLACIER FJORDS & HESTEYRI BY BOAT

NATURLIGE

Leave the pier and board a boat to one of the most beautiful and remote areas of Iceland, the beaches of Hornstrandir. An hour-long cruise takes us to Hesteyri, the westernmost bay of the Glacier Fjords. With very limited lowland, this isolated spit of land is framed by steep cliffs and is set against a backdrop of two beautiful mountains. Until 1950s, Hesteyri only had a small and scattered community centered around a whaling station and a herring processing factory. By joining this tour, you will gain insight into the difficult lives of those living in this remote place and learn how these communities were obliged to leave when herring fisheries closed. Now a beautiful nature reserve, this is one of the wildest spots in Iceland and we can enjoy the area in all its glory during a walking tour before stopping for a light snack of Icelandic pancake, rye bread with smoked lamb and coffee. Please note: limited number of guides in languages other than English. Should a tour guide for your language be unavailable, the tour will be in English only. #### IFJ04 - HIKING TO THE TROLL'S THRONE

AKTIV & EVENTYR

Wild and rugged, uncompromising and mesmerizingly beautiful, geologically and volcanically active, a place of thermal springs, mountains, valleys, rivers and waterfalls: the incredible island of Iceland is all of these things. In addition, as everybody surely knows the island's craggy mountainsides provide a comfortable home for the world's remaining trolls, those formidable creatures of Norse mythology. According to a legend told by the locals of Ísafjörður, a huge troll once lived in the area and one day, he decided to go for a walk in the fjord. However, soon getting tired from all the exercise, the troll spotted a nice tall mountain high above the town that looked like the perfect spot to have a rest. However, when the thickset troll sat down, his incredible weight squashed part of the mountainside, leaving a large indentation that remains visible to this day: the so-called Troll's Throne, or Naustahvilft to give the place its proper name. Situated only a few hundred metres up the mountain from the port, the Troll's Throne is a popular hiking destination for tourists and locals alike. Your walking experience up to the bowl-like "throne", which was actually formed by a glacier, will take you over ideal hiking terrain: a good mixture of grass, soil and sheep-trodden paths. Once at the top, you will be rewarded with wonderful views over the port and the picturesque fjord. Your return hike back down the mountain to your ship marks the end of this troll-themed tour. Please note: only English guides available. This tour is suitable only for guests with a high fitness level. Due to the substantial walking and hiking the tour entails, it is classified a grade 4 hike as it's a total 1 km hike, ascending 225 metres and rather steep with uneven, rough ground. The tour may have multiple departures during the day. Once on board, please contact the Shore Excursions' Desk for information about the precise departure time.

IFJ08 - ARCTIC FOX CENTRE & AVALANCHES

KULTUR OG HISTORIE

This entertaining tour begins with a scenic coastal coach ride to reach the tiny, yet notable village of Súðavík, once a hub of the whaling industry, the site of several catastrophic avalanches in the mid-1990s and home to the marvellous Arctic Fox Centre, which you'll visit. The Norwegian-built 19th-century part of Súðavík was largely destroyed by the natural disaster and the so-called "new town" was rebuilt in a safer spot at the foot of Mount Kofri. After visiting the timber village church, which was originally constructed in Hesteyri in 1899 and later relocated to Súðavík, you'll move on to the Langeyri peninsula where two whaling stations once stood. While the buildings have long gone, there are a few whale bones that were recently salvaged from the bottom of the fjord. The route then takes you via the pretty inner fjord to reach the Arctic Fox Centre. Find out about Iceland's only native terrestrial mammal at the research centre and museum, then enjoy a break at the cosy coffee shop, following which you'll return to your ship. Founded in 1909 by the reverend of a nearby parish, the garden's aim was to prove that, despite its northern location, Iceland could support numerous plants and vegetables that others thought would fail to survive, never mind thrive. After enjoying a look around the garden, you will move on by coach again to Flateyri, a village founded in the mid-19th-century around the shark fishing industry. You will be dropped off at a small church, typical of many in Iceland's smaller towns, to listen to Icelandic music. A stroll down Flateyri's high street then includes visits to the town's old bookstore and a historical merchant's home, where an exhibition of the town's history awaits you. Next up is a chance to see how Icelandic handicrafts are made at a local workshop and enjoy a coffee or tea break along with homemade Icelandic cake. Last up is your return journey to the ship. ### KWL05 - SKARA BRAE & SKAILL HOUSE

KULTUR OG HISTORIE

Come and discover the beautiful west coast of Orkney's Mainland and a major prehistoric site: Skara Brae. The scenic coach ride to this UNESCO World Heritage Site one of the best-preserved Neolithic villages in Northern Europe that even predates Stonehenge will take you through rich farmland, rolling hills and stark moors. Occupied from c. 3.180 B.C. to 2.500 B.C., Skara Brae remained hidden under a large knoll until a severe storm in 1850 uncovered the outline of several roofless buildings. The collection of Skara Brae artefacts displayed at the visitors' centre includes tools, beads, pottery and objects made of whalebone that reflect the region's tough seafaring economy. The site still affords a good idea of how the village must once have looked, while the houses themselves illustrate the rigours of prehistoric life. The next stop will then see you visit the nearby Skail House, a lovely residence built in 1620. You will also pass the great Neolithic henge called the Ring of Brodgar and the ancient Standing Stones of Stenness, another Neolithic monument that was erected more than 5.000 years ago. Your prehistoric tour ends with your return to the ship and all the comforts of modern life. Please note: the number of guides in languages other than English is limited. Should a tour guide for your language be unavailable, the tour will be in English only. This tour is not suitable for guests using a wheelchair. On a clear day, the sea stack known as the "Old Man of Hoy" and even the Scottish mainland can be seen in the distance.
